RECREATION CENTERS

There are numerous recreational buildings being built across the country by private owners, clubs, and organizations.

Worldwide Steel Buildings is able to customize a building for any use at the best cost to our customers. Whether your building is for a basketball court or baseball facility we can customize the interior space to maximize the use. Many churches are building multi use recreational centers that not only give them a place for a youth center but a meeting place where large numbers of people can gather in one area. Finishing off the interior of the building is easy with our secondary framing on two-foot centers. This saves our customers thousands of dollars by not having the expense of building additional stud walls. We also offer a second floor option for those customers needing offices or extra storage space with our exclusive mezzanine bar joist system.
